In accordance with the Bail Reform Act, 18 U.S.C. § 3142(f), a detention hearing has been held. I conclude that the following facts require the detention of the defendant pending trial in this case.

Part II - Written Statement of Reasons for Detention

There is a series of factors I have to look at to determine whether or not there are conditions that can be set that would assure your appearance and protect the safety of the community.

The first factor is whether or not the offense is a crime of violence or involves a controlled substance. Clearly your case involves a controlled substance so that is a negative factor.

The next factor is the weight of the evidence. There has been a Grand Jury Indictment so that is a negative factor.

The next factor is the history and characteristics of the person, which includes your physical and mental condition. There is nothing about your physical or mental condition that seems to be a problem.

Your employment is a problem.

Your family ties are somewhat limited based on the Report.

There is no indication that you have substantial financial resources that would enable you to flee so that is a positive.

Your length of residence in the community is positive.

Your community ties are positive.

Your past conduct, which includes history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history, and record concerning appearance at court proceedings, is a problem. There are numerous times you have had contact with law enforcement and have been given tickets, or warrants, or summons, and you have failed to appear.

The next factor is whether at the time of the current offense or arrest you were on probation, parole, or other release. At the time of the arrest you clearly were under release from numerous municipal courts on various tickets.

The final factor is the nature and seriousness of the danger that would be posed to any person in the community by your release. Distribution of these kind of illegal drugs is a substantial danger.

Considering all these factors together, I do not find any conditions that I could set or that I have any confidence you will comply with, so you are going to remain detained.
